MOVIUS AND GLOBALLOGIC SIGN MASTER SERVICES AGREEMENT

Atlanta, GA, U.S.A. - August 3, 2009 - GlobalLogic, a global leader in software product development, announced that it has signed a master service agreement with Movius Interactive Corporation, a leading provider of messaging, collaboration and interactive mobile media solutions.

As part of this agreement, GlobalLogic has acquired the company's captive development center in Bangalore, India. Through this relationship, Movius will be able to accelerate product innovation and shorten time to market by leveraging GlobalLogic's product development expertise, Velocity Platform and distributed agile method.

"By joining forces with GlobalLogic, an acknowledged leader in the outsource product development market, Movius will have immediate access to world class processes and methods for software product development and customization," said Jay Whitehurst, Senior Vice President, Products and Technology, Movius. "GlobalLogic's proven track record will help us accelerate product development timelines and provide us the flexibility to rapidly supplement our own development team resources as needed."

"Movius is an innovative company, and we are thrilled to be entering into a relationship that will give us the opportunity to work on exciting new solutions," said Peter Harrison, CEO, GlobalLogic.
